

Local Victory Loan Well Organized

Wainwright district with a fine record of performance behind it in previous campaigns, was fully organized for the Ninth Victory Loan campaign which got under way on Monday, October 22.

Wainwright's quota in the current drive has been set at $260,000 and although this is a substantial amount, unit organizers and salesmen are confident that the district will attain its objective before the end of the campaign.

Although the quota allocated to this district represents but a small amount of the $51,000,000 that Alberta has been asked to raise during the current Victory Loan campaign, nevertheless the bonds which will be purchased in this district will be of direct assistance in aiding the province to obtain its quota.

The local Victory Loan campaign organization is alert to the important part that this district is being called upon to play in the province-wide campaign, and for this reason they are calling upon everyone, townspeople and farmers alike to help the district go over the top.

The budget for the financial year tabled in the House of Commons last Friday indicated that the government is alive to the necessity of returning to peace time administration. Personal income tax has been cut by 16 percent and a new income tax deal for farmers and ranchers appears to be in the offing.

Let the residents of the district do their share. Let us all buy bonds and so aid the government in financing its rehabilitation program.

This district has chalked up an enviable record in previous loans.

HOCKEY FACTS IN IRMA

A meeting to re-organize the Senior hockey team was held on Monday October 22nd in Hedleys hall at 8:30 p.m. with twenty four present.

The meeting was called to order by E. Sharkey who called upon Cliff Jones to act as chairman until an executive could be elected.

Nominations were then opened for the position of Sec.-Treas. There were two nominations, Ross McFarland Jr., and Bob Kirkman. Bob was elected.

The meeting was then declared open for business.

Moved by Chas. Glover, seconded by S. Brown that the choice of manager be left until a later date when he would be chosen by hockey players only. Cd.

Discussion of goal nets ended by a decision of the meeting to order goal nets from Harold Wilson and Co., in Toronto at the price of $16.00 per pair.

Moved by Percy Jones, seconded by E. Sharkey that uniforms be ordered immediately and to be bought by the club. Cd.

Moved by Pryce Jones, seconded by C. Soneff that the design and colors be the same as previous years. Cd.

A committee was then appointed to raise funds for the successful promotion of the club. It consisted of Don Gunn, Art Knudson and Ross McFarland.

Moved by Don Gunn seconded by Pryce Jones that a gatekeeper be appointed by the executive. Cd.

Moved by R. Eaton, seconded by Pryce Jones that this club, just formed to be called the Irma Senior Hockey Club, that membership fees be $1.00 per person and that the funds be deposited in the Bank of Montreal with all cheques to be signed by the Sec.-Treas. and the president. Cd.

Moved by Don Gunn, seconded by R. McFarland that the meeting adjourn. Cd.

It will be interesting to note for those who were not present at the meeting that one half hour was spent in discussing the formation of an Athletic Association to further sport in our community. Although it was not a meeting for this purpose, we must all remember that this is one of the great necessities in our town and a meeting will be held later in the year when the representation is more complete for the purpose of forming such an organization.

Grain Quality Hurt By Frost and Rain

FINAL BANK OF MONTREAL CROP REPORT FOR 1945

Due to a backward spring, seeding was late in starting, but once commenced proceeded with few interruptions and was completed early in June. At the outset, concern was felt over deficient moisture reserves, but on the whole crops germinated well with the aid of fairly general spring rains.

As the season progressed, however, lack of rain where most urgently needed prevented proper development, particularly in southwestern Saskatchewan and southeastern Alberta. The dry areas became more widespread as the season advanced and damage was severe. Elsewhere precipitation assured good progress and, with good growing weather, the late start was eventually overcome and negligible and, while there were scattered hail losses, damage on the whole from this cause was not great.

Sawflies were the most active of the pests and did considerable damage, chiefly in the southern section of Alberta and the southern and central sections of Saskatchewan. Harvesting was becoming general by late August and given reasonable settling weather, would have been finished by now.

Unfortunately, heavy rains and snow caused a prolonged delay and, while now completed in most southern and some central areas, it will be two weeks before operations are finished in all northern sections. This excess moisture also resulted in lowering the grades of crops in parts of all three provinces. Frost also affected the quality in northern Saskatchewan. Harvesting of a satisfactory best crop is nearing completion. The honey crop is patchy and below last year's good yield. There may be some scarcity of feed in parts of the dry areas, although recent rains have improved pastures. Fall work on the land is progressing in some areas. Moisture reserves are fairly adequate, following the recent heavy rains.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Uncle Dudley's Race

By H. F. VASEY

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"I'm an old fool if ever there was one," mumbled Uncle Dudley. "Should have had sense enough to keep my mouth shut. Well—Two got to go through with it now." He shook his head sadly.

Uncle Dudley was lean, but tough and wiry even though close to seventy, with hair white as a pinto's spots. There was devilry in him too, and a capacity for quick thinking. Not one of the country's staidest citizens, Dudley lived from hand to mouth in a fashion deplored by the ladies of the Uplift Society.

His one passion was walking. He counted the day lost if he did not get in at least ten miles of lively heading across the country. When he was not tramping he sat in the local pool hall, tilted back in a chair and listening. The boys were discussing the merits of Mr. Peddler's pies one day when Jed Whetter rode by on his pinto mare.

"There goes the speediest little mare in this county," Jim Lake declared. "Ain't nothin' can outrun Daisy hereabouts."

"Guess you're right," Dave Massey said.

"Pretty little beast, too," chimed in Pop Walters, shifting his two hundred and forty pounds to a more comfortable position. "She ain't big, but she shore has got action. Yes Sirree!"

"Sure, an' it's little the competition she'll be gettin' around here," Mike broke in. "I'm thinkin' that few men would wager a cart-wheel on a hundred-to-one shot against that little filly!"

"Huh! I don't think she's so good as all that," spoke up Uncle Dudley. "Why," he chuckled, "give me twenty-five yards and I could beat her in a hundred-yard dash myself!" A great burst of laughter answered him.

"Sure, your senses have deserted you, Dudley, me boy," said Mike.

Dudley spoke sharply. He could never stand being laughed at. "Not at all! I'd do it tomorrow, if only to show you doddering old blather-skites that there's one member in this rickety club who hasn't got both feet in the grave!"

"Bravo, Uncle Dudley!" broke in Jim Budger, who sensed a fine bit of fun. "I'll be your handler, and see Jed right away. Let's put it off until county fair-day. Boy! Will this be a race?" And so it was decided.

Quickly the news spread to all parts of the village. The contest promised to be the big feature of the county fair. The ladies of the Uplift Society protested that to mix man and beast in such a race was a sin and a disgrace. The fair officials, thinking of their gate receipts, protested that the ladies of the Uplift Society were wrong. The whole county gradually resolved itself into two camps—Dudleyites and anti-Dudleyites. Arguments ran wild and free.

The morning of the fair dawned bright and clear. The sun blazed on a huge red-lettered sign: "Despite rumors to the contrary, the race will be run as scheduled at four this afternoon."

By ten o'clock the crowd had already become larger than any of the delighted fair officials had known. And still they came! New cars and automobiles, demure and two-wheeled carts. The Dudleyites came in loyal numbers. The anti-Dudleyites came, not to see the race—oh, no!—but to be witnesses of the Dudleyites in their shameful pleasures.

Uncle Dudley, lion of the day, remained calm, stoically hiding his inner perturbation behind his lean plainsman's mask. He walked about the fair grounds surrounded by little boys grinning in open-mouthed admiration. After futilely trying to shoot them off he finally accepted the inevitable and proceeded on his way, a tall island upended in a sea of bright young faces.

Dudley's dinner was passed from hand to hand piecemeal from the distant shores to the centre of the island, and if it lost somewhat of its savor in the process it gained much in the homely charm of its presentation. To shouted suggestions that he rest and conserve his strength Dudley shook his head.

Four o'clock arrived at last. For hours the track fence had been lined with spectators. Now they pressed in deeper than ever, threatening to break it down. Sideshowers were deserted, display buildings empty, the grandstand graced and creaked Dudley, rescued by force from his henchmen; was conducted to the track. Dudleyites and anti-Dudleyites mingled freely, antipathies forgotten in the excitement of the final moment. Daisy was at the starting line, with Whetter's boy ready to ride. Her silvery tail blew out like a pennant in the breeze as she minced nervously about the line.

"Ready?" the judge called.

Dudley nodded, jammed his toe into the hole he had scraped out on the twenty-five yard line. Crouched down for a start he looked like a scarecrow which the wind had blown over. "Bang!" went the gun.

With a leap Dudley was away and the hoof beats behind him were drowned out in the great yell that rose from the spectators. Like an ungainly jack-rabbit he went, taking strides that covered two yards at a bound. Ragged coat-tails flew, feet dived and crossed as he crossed the fifty yard line. A scud behind him made him turn his head. It couldn't be, surely! Yes—Daisy was right at his heels! Vainly he tried for an extra burst of speed.

The seventy-five yard line flew by—and so did Daisy, so close he could have touched her. The wild whirled tail to one side and it flicked Dudley sharply in the eyes. Water streamed out of them, almost blinding him. That was the final insult to injured vanity. Dudley's capacity for quick thinking came to the fore. He recalled that Daisy was very sensitive about that beautiful tail of hers. He'd show her that she couldn't make fun of him before the whole countryside! With a lucky lunge he caught the offending tail in both hands, giving it a tremendous sideways jerk that shook Daisy from stem to stern.

With a squeal of annoyance Daisy jammed on all four brakes, sliding to a full stop and throwing her rider head over heels. Her own heels lifted high in the air hoping to come in contact with her annoyance. He, however, was well on his way by this time, and a whoop of delight arose from his followers as Uncle Dudley hopped madly across the finish line.

Grimacing from ear to ear, he was raised to the shoulders of his cronies and carried triumphantly from the track, while his admirers howled in glee. Daisy's rider picked himself up from the dust and sheepishly led his mount away.

The race was won! The anti-Dudleyites were completely routed, that is, all but Daisy. She stood in her stall contentedly munching oats, wholly unaware that her reputation had been lost.

Pharmacy Advancement

Scholarships Planned For Canadian Pharmacy Students

The initial step in a nationwide program to raise the standards and acceptance of pharmacy in Canada was taken at the first meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Foundation for the Advancement of Pharmacy held in Montreal, recently. Plans for the raising of funds and their long-term use were outlined by President J. R. Kennedy.

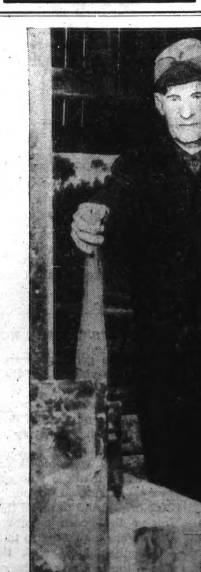

"Scholarships are but one immediate phase of the Foundation's long range plans, however," Mr. Kennedy stated. "It is hoped that the whole standards of Canadian Pharmacy and the public's understanding of this profession will be raised. The local drugist plays an important part in maintaining the welfare of his community. He is the doctor's partner in maintaining public health. Too often he is not given credit for the part he plays. Last year Canadian Pharmacists dispensed more than 14 million prescriptions, quite apart from those dispensed in hospitals and by doctors themselves."

The Foundation will also help establish Extension Classes for graduate pharmacists to keep them abreast of newest developments plus a program of public information in all parts of the country. Committee chairmen are: Committee on contributions, Mr. H. L. Schade, Windsor; committee on Pharmaceutical Education and Research, Dr. A. W. Matthews, Edmonton; committee on Professional Relations and Extensions Services, Mr. A. E. Hessel, Toronto; secretary, Mr. A. E. Laverty, Montreal.

A Message TO FARMERS from a Farmer

H. H. Hannam is President and Managing Director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. In a message addressed to farmers, Mr. Hannam says:

"The farmer who is wise will look ahead and plan carefully.

"And in these years when prices and returns are more satisfactory than they have been, when labor is scarce, when farm machinery is restricted, when building materials are not readily available, a good course to follow would be that of putting a substantial share of the year's earnings into sound securities such as Victory Bonds. These reserves will not only provide a measure of insurance against difficulties in less favorable years, but at such time when supplies are favorable and costs will probably be lower, their purchasing power will be greater and return from them correspondingly increased.

"We believe this is good planning from the farmer's standpoint. At the same time, it is the very best of planning from the standpoint of the Nation."

FARMERS CAN BUY VICTORY BONDS on convenient deferred payments THROUGH ANY BANK

... just sign a short form letter which Victory Loan Salesmen carry (banks have copies) ordering the bank to buy Victory Bonds for you. Pay 5% when ordering and the balance at any time during the next 12 months. The interest the bonds earn pays the interest on the bank loan.

UNITED KINGDOM WILL EXPORT ELECTRICALLY HEATED SUITS

LONDON—Long distance lorry drivers, busmen, cold storage workers and private motorists will soon be able to buy English electrically heated suits. These suits were made in the United Kingdom during the war for both British and U.S. airmen and tank crews. The factories are now turning to production for home and export. Orders from Australia, Canada, New Zealand, America, Sweden, Norway and Holland are pouring in, reports the London Daily Express. The manufacture of this heated clothing will be opening a big new factory in the north of England in order to step up production. The output will be on a very large scale—it is estimated that 14 hundred workers can turn out one thousand suits a day—but it will be some time before the supply meets the demand.
